2010 Best Whole House Remodel $250,000 - $500,000

This classic and beautiful traditional home gained two bedrooms, a bathroom, laundry room, guest room, and home office while also expanding the kitchen and significantly improving the energy efficiency of the house. All this was completed without increasing the footprint of the home or compromising the space of the prized back yard. The energy efficiency was improved with the installation of environmentally sensitive materials and products such as Geothermal HVAC, new windows and insulation to create better indoor air quality and a healthier home.
